ADVERTISED CHARITY.

When it was suggested in these columns that too great publicity was being given to alleged destitution in this city, a considerable number of protests reached this office from those whose knowledge on the subject could not be questioned. Some of the protests were accompanied by requests to publish. The requests were cheerfully granted on account of the standing of those making them, although the wisdom of reiterating what had already been published in various forms was seriously questioned. The Herald has been guided in the matter of publishing such communications solely by a desire to get at the facts; and, in deference to the wishes of large-hearted and noble friends of humanity, to give both sides a fair hearing, notwithstanding it has been conscious that the frequent notices of intended charities and of appeals for action, militated against the reputation of the town. The correctness of this conclusion is confirmed by the fact that in none of our exchanges, coming from all the principal cities of the country, is the alleged distress or impending distress of the unemployed made the subject for extended articles, or indeed of any articles at all. It is probable that other cities have been affected by the hard times quite as disastrously as ours, but the newspapers have not been asked to advertise the fact so extensively as to provoke comment or even notice. The Herald will not be understood as saying that no distress exists in this town. What it wishes to be understood as saying is that it would be better to have less of the "wondering brain" and "tinkling cymbal" variety of agitation. The right hand can get in its work all right enough if the newspapers don't hear anything at all about it. The foregoing supplemental remarks are based upon the conclusion reached by the board of trade in its meeting held last night.

NO MORE "CRAPS."

Superintendent Carr has ordered closed two gambling places in which games of "craps" have constituted the principal amusement to those who seek to enhance their worldly possessions at some other fellow's expense. His action will be generally commended. The game of "craps" is a seductive one having great fascination in its possibilities for gain to young boys of limited capital. It is not a dignified game. Its playing is accompanied by more or less amusing acrobatic graces and exclamatory declamation. It is just the sort of a game to lure boys and broken-down gamblers. A professional gambler volunteers an opinion covering the above mentioned points. At least he so delivered himself to a reporter for this paper and in the absence of other testimony his must be accepted as conclusive. The closing of the "craps" games will inevitably furnish a large class of patrons for the more "dignified" games commonly known as "stud poker," "faro" and "munch," which flourish in this town like a green bay tree. The gambling evil cannot be wholly eradicated. It will rear its hydra head in out-of-the-way places and those who wish to play will find it late. It is gratifying to observe that the police department has decided to regulate it by beginning at the root. It is a week the wretched music of "come 'ere" will be heard again in the places just closed.

RESTORED CONFIDENCE.

That the recent election restored confidence in the stability of our industries is being corroborated every day. Within the week two large local manufacturing concerns, employing a fairly large number of men, have resumed operations after a long period of idleness. These two resurrections are but indices to the general resumption of business all over the country. The result of the late elections is more potent in starting the wheels than was the repeal of the purchase clause of the Sherman bill although we were told that its success was the means to renewed industrial activity. The confidence restored in manufacturers has acted as the hitherto deficient and timid merchants. An illustration in point was furnished in an interview with a local furniture salesman published in this Herald yesterday morning. A merchant placed an order for goods the delivery of which was conditioned on the sale of McKinley's majority. The condition was not only met, but emphasized by three times the figure agreed upon. It follows that the confidence of that merchant is three times as great as it would have been had McKinley received a majority equal only to the condition named by him in giving his order. His confidence is shared in by merchants all over the country. The hard times are relieved, not by democratic promises, but by republican votes.

MARVIN'S TROUBLES.

Fred Marvin's troubles multiply. He was a candidate for state treasurer on the democratic ticket last fall. Now, if reports be true, he is a candidate for state's prison. He was ingloriously defeated for state treasurer, but the chances are that he will be ignominiously elected for state's prison. Several days ago the Detroit papers printed some ugly stories about his disappearance in Chicago and the tangled condition of his financial transactions with the Third National Bank of Detroit. He had been cashier and director of the bank. The first named position he resigned several weeks ago. A few days ago his resignation as director was accepted by his colleagues. The Detroit newspapers reluctantly printed the history back of these changes. That history was anything but complimentary to Marvin and his continued absence gave rise to the belief that he was not altogether stoned against. Then he appeared on the scene and vigorously denounced his old associates in the bank for making his private affairs public and threatened condign punishment on all concerned in disgracing him. The president of the bank was astounded by Marvin's boldness, not to say impudence. Recovering his equilibrium, he straightway lodged a complaint against Marvin, charging him with embezzling $7,500. The officers were given a warrant to serve, but when they went to find him, Marvin had again disappeared, leaving no clue to his whereabouts. It is claimed that his speculations will aggregate a large sum, when they are fully known, and that unless he evades arrest and afterwards escapes on a technicality the would-be state treasurer will find a long job awaiting him in the state's prison.

WHENEVER the surgeon's knife saves a life it is hailed as a blessing. When the self-same knife is used for the self-same purpose and death results, there are those who make haste to denounce its use as barbarous. A case in point is the very successful operation performed by Dr. Barth. He saved a boy's life by the use of the knife, when all other agencies seemed impotent. His good deed is applauded. Had the patient failed to rally, ignorant and carping critics would condemn the operation as little short of butchery.

TO POINTS: Please take notice that our stock of poems on the "beautiful" was exhausted during the long continued presence of it in these parts last winter. The mantle which covers the earth this morning reminds us that your opportunity is with us again. Unlike the unpoetic journals which turn up their noses at your soulful tributes, it is a pleasure to announce that all effusions strictly on the "Beautiful" will be received with gratitude at this office.

How easily democrat enthusiasm is affected. Only a few days ago the Jefferson club was in a paroxysm of delighted anticipation. Last night it was plunged into the abyssal depths of gloom. Something must have happened in the meantime. Perhaps the rent is paid.

If one of Grover's daughters was a boy it might be suspected that he is laying pipe to get him in line of succession to the Hawaiian throne. When the dark-eyed, tawny-skinned princess, heir to the throne, visited Grover, he paid her marked distinction. Grover is a sly old fox.

GENERAL MARTIN WORKMAN POWERS denies the imputation that his acts are controlled by religious prejudices. Nobody would know that such imputations have been made did he not go to the unnecessary trouble of refuting them.

GOVERNOR ALTGELD has been denounced by the Illinois Federation of Labor. First thing the despotic old aristocratic reprobate knows he will be getting unpopular even with those that hate him most cordially.

With two counties yet to hear from, McKinley's majority is 81,157. Never mind about those two missing counties, we'll try to be satisfied with the small margin already reported.

ROUTED on the wings of the first snow storm comes the cheerful intelligence that a gigantic coal trust has been formed by the Vanderbilts.

"Partnership home industries." But this is just what the democrats have been trying hardest not to do.

Yes, democrats are "in," but it is unfortunate that millions of workers of one year ago are "out."

END OF CRAP GAMES

Superintendent Carr Issues an Order to Close Them

FARO IS PLAYED IN FULL BLAST

"Billy" Smith Asserts That He has a Pull With the Police Department—New Game.

Crap shooting is a sinful game. The police department of the city of Grand Rapids has officially disapproved of it, and yesterday Superintendent Carr issued an order to the manipulators of faro to close up. The proprietors will comply.

There are only three places in the city where crap tables are maintained. One is at Bowen's, the other at "Doug's" and the third over Ed Chinick's saloon on Monroe street. At Bowen's and "Doug's" the only game played is "faro." At the place over Chinick's, which is said to be operated by Al Brower, a stud poker game is run.

None of the other gambling joints in the city have received any notice to close and all of them are running with open doors. Guy Johnston is operating the game over Latta's. He boasted a few days ago that he had "held up the town for seventeen years and was running on his eighteenth." With Johnston is "Billy" Smith. William asserted to a crowd of sports yesterday that he had "a pull with the police," and that "the superintendent don't dare order any house I am connected with to close." Smith does not claim to have any interest in Johnston's place, but gives it moral tone by his support.

The Three Graces.

Mart Boorhem is boss of the bank and does the dealing. He has the justly earned reputation of being the cleverest faro dealer in Grand Rapids. Smith, Johnston and Carter, however, assist him in the management of the game. It was in Johnston's joint that J. G. Mosser of Cadillac dropped $1,400 on the game and was forced to skip the country on account of his creditors. Boorhem is said to have landed the card the night Mosser "dropped his pile." The sports in the house claim that the game is run on the square and that a brace game is not tolerated. Johnston asserts that the house has lost money every night except one for the past month. That night was last Saturday, and it is said the bank quit winning $8. Under these circumstances the game seems to be run as an adjunct to the Associated Charities society for the purpose of assisting the deserving poor whom the society is in danger of not reaching. Stop playing, you fellows, the leading attractions at Latta's. The possibilities of the game are too well known to every sport to deserve any comment. It's a dead end.

Guy Johnston has another place over Trowbridge's saloon on Monroe street, and the doors of this, like the gates of hell, are open night and day. Joe Dreux is Guy's right-hand man in the management of the games. Wegwood assists him and "Sugar Bob" acts as stealer for the house. Both faro and stud poker are played here, and the games, like those at Latta's, are asserted to be square in every way.

The game that is run over Chinick's by Al Brower is an insignificant sort of an affair, and is not held in high favor by the other sports. It is on the losing string order, craps being the principal thing played. A stud poker game is running in full blast, however.

By the order of the superintendent, the crap game will be closed; but speculative persons may still have an opportunity to better up their money at the stud poker tables.

To Open a New Place.

The place over Zeke Welch's on Pearl street will be opened again today or tomorrow, and it is said that "Sugar Bob" will have charge of the house. Robert has a variable sort of reputation. Some assert that he is the cleverest sport in the lot, and others maintain that he doesn't know enough to match pennies. Faro and stud poker will be the games over Welch's, the same as in the other gambling houses of the city. A crap game was formerly run there; but the dice cannot be about any more without conflicting with the recent order of the superintendent, and Bob has no intention of bucking the police.

It was said in sporting circles last night that Billy Smith claimed all the credit for the order to stop crap shooting. With the crap games closed, the faro and stud poker games will have a better show. The crap games are open for a quarter; but the faro dealers do not disdain to receive bets even of this amount, and "two-bit" faro is expected to receive a decided boom from the enforcement of Superintendent Carr's order.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Rinzling Bros' Route Book, a beautifully printed little volume containing the pictures of the owners and all the performers in the great show, together with a carefully edited description of all the departments of the gigantic enterprise, has just been issued. The book is dedicated to the members of the great traveling family and contains the names of the cities in which the show has appeared during the past two seasons. The book is a valuable souvenir for the attaches of the show and a mine of interesting information to those unfamiliar with the details of the modern tented exhibitions. The Herald is indebted to Mr. John Rinzling for a copy of the book.

Ries & Barton's Poly company is more evenly balanced this year than ever before. The program presented in Smith's this week is a jangling succession of happy hits. Multitude today.

The Custer Guard will shortly tender a complimentary reception to those who took part in its benefit performance in Lockery hall Monday evening.

Harry Hubbard's benefit will be given in The Powers Thursday night. Little Miss Bridgman has prepared a brilliant program for the occasion.

Nellie McHenry, in "A Night at the Circus," will be seen in The Powers Wednesday and Thursday nights of next week.

R. P. Bland, representing "The Winklow Postman," which will be seen in The Grand next week, is in town.

"She," with its wealth of scenic splendors, is running to good business in The Grand this week.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

"Salt is selling for 25 cents a barrel, or a little more than seven pence for a cent," said ex-Governor David H. Jerome of Saginaw, who was a guest in The Morton yesterday. "The barrel costs 20 cents extra. The tariff on salt is 35 cents about two-thirds of the selling price, plus the cost of the barrel; yet our good democrat brethren still insist that the tariff is a tax. Lumber and salt are two of the things which have been scheduled for the free list in the new tariff bill which the ways and means committee is preparing. Salt cannot be manufactured here with profit except in connection with the lumber business, the salts and sawdust being utilized for fuel. Free salt will not reduce the price materially, but it will give the Canadian shoe manufacturers a chance to bring their product across and compete with us in places where they cannot now. Much of the lumber now manufactured in Michigan is made from Canadian pine, rafted over. If the tariff is removed, the Michigan lumbermen will be forced to move their mills to Canada and save their pine trees. Canadian laborers replacing those of Saginaw, Bay City and Alpena. That is the status of the tariff case in Michigan."

ELECTRICAL WORKERS' ANNUAL.

Synopsis of the Secretary's and Treasurer's Report.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 14.—This morning's session of the annual convention of the National Brotherhood of Electrical Workers was devoted chiefly to the reading of the annual report of Grand Secretary and Treasurer Kelly and the discussion of the same. The report stated that during the past year 100 members of the organization died. The amount paid out in death benefits was $2,000, sick benefits $1,000, strike and sundry benefits $3,000. The balance on hand one year ago was $642.10, and the receipts since that time amounted to $8,422.02. The brotherhood is in better condition at present than it has been since its organization.

IT WAS AN INSULT

Gov. Altgeld Refused to Reply to the Federation of Labor

ASKING WORK FOR THE IDLE

The Order Denounced His Act as an Offense to the Labor Organizations Which Aided in His Election.

GALESBURGH, Ill., Nov. 14.—The annual meeting of the Illinois state federation of labor opened this morning. Governor Altgeld was the recipient of an attack from several delegates because of his alleged declaration to answer a letter from the bricklayers union, requesting his co-operation in securing from the state an appropriation whereby, through the means of public work, employment could be given to those out of work. President Madison said that the governor had insulted organized labor in Illinois, and that he had not tried to act in conjunction with labor organizations to whose votes he owed his election. A committee was appointed to devise ways and means for procuring work for the unemployed.

WANTS HIS TORPEDO GUN.

Inventor Gathmann Offered $100,000 by a Foreign Government.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Louis Gathmann, the Chicago inventor, has been offered $100,000 for the secret of a gun he has recently perfected, which throws high explosives by means of gunpowder without danger to the gunner. The offer will, it is said, be accepted. The purchaser is the representative of a foreign power, and a few days ago Mr. Gathmann gave him a practical demonstration of the effectiveness of the new gun. The same government, it is said, offers a sum of money approximating $100,000 for the exclusive secret of Mr. Gathmann's ordinance inventions. These cover a wide range of contrivances in torpedo guns and torpedoes. Mr. Gathmann declares that with this knowledge and a sufficient number of his torpedo guns, any nation, however small, could rule the world.

EPISCOPAL CONGRESS.

Fifteenth Annual Opened in New York City Yesterday.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The fifteenth annual congress of the episcopal church was opened with holy communion today at St. Bartholomew's church, Madison avenue and Forty-fourth street. Bishop Dudley of Kentucky occupied the chair at the opening proceedings. The address of welcome was delivered by the Right Rev. William Lawrence, bishop of Massachusetts. There was a large attendance of prominent ministers. The session will last four days. Tonight Bishop Dudley delivered an inaugural address, after which the assembly discussed the topic, "What shall be done with the saloon?" "Moral and religious education in public schools" will be discussed tomorrow morning and "The use and abuse of ritual" in the evening.

Seamen's Wages Advanced.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 14.—The Lake Carriers finance committee has raised the wages of watchmen, wheelmen, firemen, oilers, sailors and cooks, on consort, from $1 to $1.25 per day, the advance taking effect immediately. The wages of deck hands will be $20 per month. The light house board is to be asked to leave buoys as long as navigation is open. The board of supervising inspectors will be asked not to make any change as to the lights on tow barges from the rules now in force on the lakes. The board gives a public hearing on the subject January 2, but all written communications must be filed by January 1.

STATE PRESS COMMENT.

The brilliant victory won by Governor McKinley places him among the foremost republican statesmen of the nation today. He is the greatest living embodiment of the idea of protection to American industry, and his life work has inseparably associated his name with that doctrine. He stands before the nation now as the foremost exponent of a principle dear to every patriotic American, and while that principle is attacked he will be looked to as its leading defender.—Adrian Times.

It is estimated that upwards of 2,000 deer have been slain in the upper peninsula during the past few weeks. Deer and fawns were shamefully slaughtered, and at this rate few deer will be seen in this part of the state in a few years. The game law is rigid enough, but despite the law of officers, hunters evade the law on every hand. There seems to be no remedy.—Menominee Democrat.

The New Jersey supreme court declares the last legislative apportionment unconstitutional and this will probably make another election necessary. Let it come in the present time of New Jersey republicans they will ask nothing better than a chance to administer another drubbing to the opposition.—Muskegon Chronicle.

"Governor Pingree" does not grate upon the ear, "Senator Pingree" does not make an unpleasant mouthful; but "President Pingree" has an alliterative smoothness like to the smoothness of old wine, and touches the critical ear like the softest notes of aolian harp.—Detroit Free Press.

With a republican legislature in New York it ought not to take long to put non-partisan returning boards in the place of the Tammany fraud-machines which make only the flimsiest pretense of determining what the verdict of the people is.—Detroit Tribune.

The governor of Oregon in his Thanksgiving proclamation asks the people to pray that silver be finally reinstated, it is evident that his heart is set more upon the silver mines than on his country's welfare, and perhaps even more than on heaven.—Bellevue Gazette.

The republican party is in line again, and there will be no difficulty in keeping it there so long as it sticks to reasonable protection to home industry and bimetalism.—Saginaw Courier-Herald.

Leading democrats have observed the handwriting on the wall, and the majority of them translate it to read "be careful how you meddle with the tariff."—Day City Tribune.

The American people have had a foretaste of free trade, and they showed clearly at the polls Tuesday how they don't like it.—Van Buren County Republican.

The only ray of comfort to the good democrat comes just now from the south.—Battle Creek Journal.

The Late Minister To Hawaii Is Red Hot!

At least we are so informed by the newspapers of recent date that he is. Well, if he can only remain so until about April next, it may result in a great saving to him in the matter of fuel the coming winter. We are not all situated as the L. M. to H. and therefore must cast our eyes around to find something that will take the place of the heat that pervades his frame. The simplest, easiest, most economical and satisfactory way to get the best heat results with the least expenditure of money is to buy

AN OIL HEATER!

The improvements that have been made in the manufacture of these Heaters have resulted in producing a simple, durable little stove that performs simply wonders in turning blustering, boisterous winter into sweet and balmy spring. We have several different makes, the Perfect, the Model, and the Eclipse, all good, all cheap, all just as they should be. Many times you want to heat temporarily a room in which you have no stove or furnace pipe, and nothing at such a time will prove as valuable as an OIL HEATER.
